Alberta Weekly Newspaper Publishers Get It in the Neck

To Stop Publicity.

At the annual convention in Calgary last week of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, the Executive Committee was instructed by unanimous resolution of the members, to wait upon the Alberta provincial cabinet and state that until promises of the past two years to grant proper recognition to the weekly newspapers of Alberta were implemented, the flow of free publicity from provincial departments would find no space in the columns of the Association members' papers. The reference was to the pub-

"All Het Up."

The Government wants the weekly newspapers to get all het up about "fire prevention week" while at the same time they send all paid advertising to the dailies, and papers that are issued from the cities with no permanent circulation or publication day. The same thing applies to these "made in Canada" and "made in the province" campaigns where you can go and pick up a lot of literature stamped "printed in the U. S. A."—Viking News.

A Coming Attraction.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute last week it was decided to have the members present a play in Stony Plain the latter part of next month. The play has been selected, and those who are to participate are already at work on their parts. The name of the play and the date of its production here will be announced later.

With the Curlers.

A meeting of curlers was held in the town hall on the evening of Thursday, October 15th, which was well attended.

A few of last year's games were played over again, after which Mr McCulla took the chair and the meeting came to order. The first order of business being the setting of the fees, which caused a very lengthy discussion, and will no doubt be finally set at $10 for the season.

The election of officers then took place, with the following result:

Pres., J. W. McCulla;
V. Pres., W. J. Connolly;
Sec'treas., W. E. H. Lewis;
Executive committee, R. E. Wood, J. Mallach, A. E. Michael, J. B. Cannon, H. Oppertshausen, O. G. Wundt.

The ladies' fees for the coming season were set at $25.00.

After checking the roll call, it was found a few had left the ranks but it is expected these will shortly be replaced.

Sunday's Funeral.

The death occurred on Friday last of Mr. Gottfried Ducholke, one of the district's most respected oldtime settlers. Deceased was in his 76th year, and had been ailing for some time.

Deceased had been a resident of this district for a number of years. He and his wife and two young lads arrived in Canada in 1888 and settled in the Denmore district, Sask. The next year they moved to Portland, Oregon, where they remained until Aug. 8, 1893, when they returned to Canada and settled here.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, a service being held at the residence, and also a service at St. Matthew Lutheran Church (Manitoba Synod) at 3 p.m., and was attended by a very large number of friends of the family from Edmonton, Stony Plain and other districts. The Rev. G. Poetzsch officiated, and interment took place in the local cemetery.

He is survived by his wife Juliana; two sons, John and Mike, of Stony Plain district; six daughters, Mrs. Philip Schram, Spruce Grove district; Mrs. Chris Neiman, of Pincher Creek; Mrs. Ernest Breikreutz, Wembley; Mrs. Emil Ulmer, Stony Plain; Mrs. Adolf Fischer, Golden Spike; Mrs. Louis Fuhr, Devil's Lake; and one brother, Mr. Geo. Ducholke of Stony Plain.

He made no answer, but released her instantly, and in her anxiety to show him how well she could manage she hurried on, struck the tip of the skate she was still wearing against a little hummock of frozen snow, and all but fell. He caught her as she stumbled.

"I think," he remarked dryly, "you would do well to sacrifice your independence till your feet are on more equal terms with one another."

Jean laughed ruefully.

"I think I should," she agreed meekly.

He led her to where the prone trunk of a tree offered a seat of sorts, then went in search of the missing skate. Returning in a few moments, he knelt beside her and fastened it on—securely this time—to the slender foot she extended towards him.

"You're much too incompetent to be out on the ice alone," he remarked as he buckled the last strap.

A faint flush of annoyance rose in Jean's cheeks at the uncompromising frankness of the observation.

"What are your friends thinking of to let you do such a thing?" he pursued, blandly ignoring her mute indignation.

"I have no friends here. I am—my own mistress," she replied rather tartly.

He was still kneeling in the snow in front of her. Now he sat back on his heels and subjected her face to a sharp, swift scrutiny. Almost, she thought, she detected a sudden veiled suspicion in the keen glance.

"You're not the sort of girl to be knocking about—alone—at a hotel," he said at last, as though satisfied.

"How do you know what I'm like?" she retorted quickly. "You're hardly qualified to judge."

"Pardon, mademoiselle, I do not know what you are—but I do know very certainly what you are not. And," smiling a little, "I think we have just had ocular demonstration of the fact that you're not accustomed to finding for yourself."

There was something singularly attractive about his smile. It lightened his whole face, contradicting the settled gravity that seemed habitual to it, and Jean found herself smiling back in response.

"Well, as a matter of fact, I'm not," she admitted. "I came here with my father, and he was—was suddenly called away. I am going on to stay with friends."

"This is my last day here," he remarked with sudden irrelevance. "I am off first thing tomorrow morning."

"You're not stopping at the hotel, are you?"

He shook his head.

"No, I'm staying at a friend's chalet a little way beyond it. Mais, voyons, mademoiselle, you will catch cold sitting there. Are you too frightened to try the ice again?"

He seemed to assume that her next essay would be made in his company. Jean spoke a little hurriedly.

"Oh, no, I was supposed to have a lesson with Monsieur Griotlet this morning. He is an instructor," she explained. "But he was engaged coaching someone else when I came out."

"And which is this Monsieur Griotlet? Can you see him?"

Jean's glance ranged over the scattered figures on the rink.

"Yes. There he is."

His eyes followed the direction indicated.

"He seems to be well occupied at the moment," he commented. "Suppose—would you allow me to act as coach instead?"

She hesitated. This stranger appeared to be uncompromisingly progressive in his tendencies.

"I'm perfectly capable," he added curtly.

"I'm sure of that. But—"

His eyes twinkled.

"But it would not be quite 'comme il faut'?" Is that it?"

"Well, it wouldn't, would it?" she retorted.

His face grew suddenly grave, and she noticed that when in repose there were deep, straight lines on either side of his mouth—lines that are usually only furrowed by severe suffering, either mental or physical.

"Mademoiselle," he said quietly, "to-day, it seems, we are two very lonely people. Couldn't we forget what is 'comme il faut' for once? We shall probably never meet again. We know nothing of each other—just ships that pass in the night. Let us keep one another company—take this one day together."

He drew a step nearer to her.

"Will you?" he said. "Will you?"

He was looking down at her with eyes that were curiously bright and compelling. There was a tense note in his voice which once again sent in his disconcerting tremor of consciousness tingling through her blood.

She knew that his proposal was impetuous, unconventional, even regarded from the standpoint of the modern broad interpretation of the word 'convention,' and that by every law of Mrs. Grundy she ought to snub him soundly for his presumption and retrace her steps to the hotel with all the dignity at her command.

But she did none of these things. Instead, she stood hesitating, alternately flushing and paling beneath the oddly concentrated gaze he bent on her.

"I swear it shall bind you to nothing," he pursued urgently. "Not even to recognizing me in the street should your ways ever chance to cross again. Though that is hardly likely to occur."

With a shrug—"seeing that mademoiselle is French and that I am rarely out of England. It will be just one day that we shall have shared together out of the whole of life, and after that the 'darkness again and a silence.'"

"I can promise you the 'silence'!" he added with a sudden harsh inflection.

It was that bitter note which won the day. In a moment Jean sensed the pain which lay at the back of it. She answered impulsively:

"Very well. It shall be as you wish."

A rarely sweet smile curved the man's grave lips.

"Thank you," he said simply.

CHAPTER IV.

The Stolen Day

"Encore une fois! Bravo! That went better!"

Monsieur Griotlet's understudy had simply justified his claim to capability. After a morning's tuition at his hands, Jean found her progress in the art of skating considerably enhanced. She was even beginning to master the mysteries of "cross-cuts" and "rocker turns," and a somewhat attenuated figure eight lay freshly scored on the ice to her credit.

"You are really a wonderful instructor," she acknowledged, surveying the graven witness to her progress with considerable satisfaction.

Her self-appointed teacher smiled.

HER FAT HAD TO GO

Activity Melted It

Exercise is the enemy of fat. If you are overburdened with superfluous flesh, call up reserves of energy to fight it. Do as this lady did—

"During the past six months, I have made steady improvements while taking Kruschen Salts. I have reduced 28 lbs. in weight during that period, and have benefited greatly from greater agility and liveliness—all directly attributable to that famous preparation."—Mrs. W. P.

You can take off fat with Kruschen Salts if you will take one-half teaspoon in hot water every morning before breakfast, modify your diet and exercise regularly.

While you are losing fat you will be gaining in energy—in endurance—in ambition. Your skin will grow clearer, and your eyes will sparkle with the good health that Kruschen brings.

The old arm chair won't hold you any more—you'll want to be up and doing—enjoy your work and life as you are and you'll sleep like a top. You'll lose fat, and probably live years longer.

There is something to be said for the pupil, also. He replied, "I vote now"—glancing at his watch—"I vote we call a halt for lunch."

"Lunch!" Jean's glance measured the distance to the hotel with some dismay.

"But not lunch at the hotel," interposed her companion quickly.

Jean regarded him with curiosity.

"Where then, monsieur?"

"Up there," he pointed towards the pine-woods. "Above the woods there is a hut of sorts—expected as a shelter in case of sudden storms for people coming up from the lower valley to Montanvan and beyond. It's a rough little shanty, but it would serve very well as a temporary safe a manger."

It isn't a long climb," he added persuasively. "Are you too tired to take it on after your recent exertion?"

"Not in the least. But are you expecting a wayside refuge of that description to be miraculously endowed with a well-furnished larder?"

"No. But I think my knapsack can make good the deficiency," he replied composedly.

Jean looked at him with dancing eyes. Having once yielded to the day's unconventional adventure, she had surrendered herself wholeheartedly to the enjoyment of it.

She made one reservation, however, some instinct of self-protection prevented her from enlightening her companion as to her partly English nationality. There was no real necessity for it, seeing that he spoke French with the utmost fluency, and his assumption that she was a French woman seemed in some way to limit the feeling of intimacy, conferring on her, as it were, a little of the freedom of an incognito.

"A la bonne heure," she exclaimed gaily. "So you invite me to share your lunch, monsieur le professeur?"

"I've invited you to share my day, haven't I?" he replied, smiling.

They steered for the skates, and when he had helped off her skates and removed his own, slinging them over his arm, they started off along the steep white track which wound its way upwards through the pine-woods. As they left the bright sunlight that still glittered on the snowy slopes behind them, it seemed as though they plunged suddenly into another world—a still, mysterious, twilight place, where the snow underfoot muffled the sound of their steps and the long shadows of the pines barred their path with sinister, distorted shapes. Germany Building Glass Houses

Young Woman Architect Predicts They Will Be Common

People who live in glass houses will be no more exceptional than those whose dwellings are brick, stone or wood ten or fifteen years from now, according to Margaret Y. Van Pelt, young New York architect. Miss Van Pelt, who recently became a member of a long established New York firm of architects, has returned to work in her New York office after a year studying trends in architecture in Europe.

"The Germans are building glass houses already," she explained. "I saw several of them. Of course the glass has to be of the strongest sort. They are using glass also to decorate interiors. Sometimes it is transparent and sometimes black."

"Glass, metal and strong colour contrasts in decorating exteriors are the newest notes in building design in Germany. The tendency toward geometric effects is even more marked than in our American skyscrapers. City blocks in which pink, blue, beige and naive coloured houses stand side by side are being erected."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

SUNFLOWER'S SONG

The sunflower owns allegiance
To nothing save the sun;
But, ah! how can she meet the hour
When day is done?

Her fealty is splendid,
Her very heart she bares;
But as dusk deepens she must know
What bleak despair!

I know how she must shudder
Through the black abyss of night;
In all the whirling universe
No golden light!

I know how she must ache for
The signal-lights of dawn;
Her fear-filled vigils I can share
Since you are gone!

Yet eastward I am looking,
Morn's gates are almost won;
I lift my petals up in hope,
Come back, my sun!

Will Take Precautions

Treasure Seekers May Carry Arms To Guard Against Sea Pirates

Precautions against hijackers, such as occasionally raid rich liquor-laden ships, will be taken by Lieut. Col. J. E. Leckie, head of the Vancouver expedition which in a few weeks will sail to Cocos Island to search for the buried treasure of ancient pirates.

Col. Leckie has communicated with the Department of National Defence seeking permission to arm his ship against eventualities on the sea or on Cocos Island. Col. Leckie wants the use of machine guns and "pom-poms" which are in the arsenal at Esquimaux. Even if this permission is not granted, the ship will be armed against possible sea raiders. Col. Leckie has already arranged to carry privately owned machine guns and numerous rifles.

Health cannot be looked for in the child that is subject to worms, because worms destroy health by creating internal disturbances that retard development and cause serious weakness. Miller's Worm Powders expel worms and are so beneficial in their action that the systems of the little sufferers are restored to healthfulness, all the discomforts and dangers of worm infection are removed, and satisfactory growth is assured.

Little Helps For This Week

"In your patience possess ye your souls."—Luke xii. 19.

Hold in thy murmurs Heaven ascending.

The patient sees God's loving face; Who bears their burdens uncomplaining.

"His They that win the Father's grace."

The soul loses command of itself when it is impatient. Whereas, when it submits without a murmur, it possesses itself in peace, and possesses God. To be impatient is to desire that we have not, not to desire what we have.

What is a real calamity of it by resistance? Peace does not dwell in outward things, but within the soul. We may preserve it in the midst of bitterest pain if our will remains firm and submissive. Peace in this life springs from acquiescence even in disagreeable things; not in an exemption from bearing them.

Freedom From Asthma. Asthma is one of the most distressing troubles, sudden in its attacks and prolonged in its agonies. Frequently many things are tried, but nothing seems to give hope of relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is the one help which can be depended upon. If you have tried other remedies without success, do not fail to get at once a package of this uniformly successful preparation.

Catfish Leather may eventually win favour with the lady of fashion for her handbag or shoes. Not until recently has a market been found for catfish caught in Nova Scotia, but a firm of leather manufacturers in the United States has found that a soft and pliable product can be made from the skins of catfish dyed in the gayest or most sombre of colours, with the result that the catfish skins are being shipped from Yarmouth County, Nova Scotia. The price paid for the raw skins is about 15 cents each.

BABY FRETFUL, RESTLESS? Look to this cause

Natural Resources, Will Help Develop Churchill

Needs More Than Wheat Asserts Kenneth K. McArdle

Wheat shipments alone could not make Churchill a real port, in the opinion of Kenneth K. McArdle, managing editor of the Commerce of the Nation, organ of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which last month conducted a tour to the new Hudson's Bay ocean port.

"But on the other hand there are vast mineral resources north of The Pas to mile 250, including large marble deposits and limitless water power and I believe that Churchill will definitely come out through the development of the natural resources which lie to the south. Leaders in the western cities are not now so enthusiastic on the Churchill scheme as they once were, but they have interested others who are confidently on the defensive in the support of their undertaking and through their work and interest the dream of the west may come true."

He was addressing the Advertising Club of Montreal.

Huge Sum For Charity

Charitable Bequests Will Consume Most Of Estate Of Late Sir Thomas Lipton

Sir Thomas Lipton left £80,000 sterling to the poor mothers and children of Glasgow, his native town, it was revealed when the will was read. It is estimated that the total estate will exceed £1,000,000.

The Lipton country home at Osidge is to be reserved as a home for nurses with an endowment of £20,000.

After payment of legacies to friends, employees and servants, the remainder of the estate is to be divided among hospitals and charitable institutions in Glasgow, the town of Cambuslang, five miles from Glasgow, London and Middlesex.

Charitable bequests will consume most of the estate for it is estimated that they will total more than £1,000,000.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

PUMPKIN PRESERVES

Remove the rind and seeds from a small pumpkin and cut the flesh in inch cubes. Cook in a small amount of water until tender. Drain and weigh. For each pound of pumpkin allow 1 pound of sugar, 2 lemons and 2 ounces of ginger root. Slice the lemons and soak with the ginger over night in cold water. Next morning cook in same water until the lemon rind is tender. Add the sugar and the pumpkin, and simmer until the pumpkin is transparent. Drain and pack in jars. Cook syrup until it is thick and pour over the fruit in the jars. Seal tightly.

BEST RELISH

1 quart beets, diced.
1 medium-sized white onion.
2 red peppers.
2 teaspoons salt.
½ cup grated horse-radish.
1 pint vinegar.
¾ cup sugar.
Cook the beets until they are tender and the skins slip off easily. Cut or chop the beets, onion, and peppers. Combine the ingredients. Cook the mixture until it is clear. Seal it in clean, hot jars.

Cattle Reach Paris

Is First Consignment Canada Has Shipped To France

There recently arrived in Paris the first consignment of Canadian cattle ever shipped to France. The shipment consists of 172 head worth 500,000 francs. All were in excellent health and there was not a single casualty in the crossing.

This will be followed by a second consignment shortly. Moreover, French agents will shortly proceed to Canada to purchase lean heifers and steers to replace France's greatly depleted herds. France can assimilate regular weekly shipments of Canadian cattle for fattening.

Owing to veterinary regulations, Canada and Switzerland are the only two countries allowed to export cattle to France, and Switzerland has no exportable surplus.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 25

PAUL IN CORINTH

Golden Text: "Now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love."—1 Corinthians 13:13.

Lesson: Acts 18:1-17; 1 Corinthians 13:1-8, 13.

Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 13:1-8, 13.

Explanations and Comments

Paul the Tentmaker, verses 1-3.—Last week we left Paul at Berea. From there he went to the province of Achaia, and following what must have been a very disappointing experience in Athens, came to Corinth.

Here at Corinth Paul's ministry lasted eighteen months. He worked at his trade of tentmaker by day and preached at night. Just what Paul's trade was is a matter of doubt. Luther translated the word "carpet manufacturer." Chrysostom describes Paul as standing in his workshop and stitching hides of leather together with his hands. It is generally thought that he made tentcloth from the fact that he was called a Cilician cloth from the fact that it was made in Cilicia, which was Tarsus, Paul's home.

Preaching to Jews and Greeks, verses 4, 5.—In spite of many discouragements and of physical weakness (1 Corinthians 2:3-5), the lonely missionary "reasoned" in the synagogue every Sabbath, seeking to persuade Jews and Greeks to accept his teaching. The "Greeks" were proselytes in the synagogue, as the distinction of verse six shows.

The effect upon Paul of the coming of Silas and Timothy, who had remained in Macedonia, was electric. Inspired by their presence, his spirits revived and his whole activity became more intense. Paul was a social Jew. He worked best in harness with others.

Turning to the Gentiles, verses 6, 7.—The Jews opposed Paul and blasphemed. As Matthew Henry says they could not argue against Paul's words, but what they wanted in reason they made up in language. Paul then definitely decided to turn his efforts to the Gentiles.

Paul Encouraged, verses 8-11.—Despite his turning to the Gentiles, a noted Jew, Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, and all his household believed Paul's message, and many other Corinthians believed and were baptized. Paul baptized Crispus with his own hands, 1 Corinthians 1:14. "The continuity of the new meeting house for the Christians and the synagogue was not only fruitful in winning converts but also in raising disputes. The conversion of an important personage like Crispus led to increased opposition by the synagogue. It may have grown so bitter that Paul began to question whether he ought not to move on again." Then came the word of the Lord to him in a vision which encouraged him. "Be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace; for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to harm thee, for I have much people in this city."

WHAT NEW YORY IS WEARING

Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson Furnished With Every Pattern

Here's a lovely model in printed flat crepe, so smart and easy to wear. It's charmingly slender too.

The bodice cuts all in one until it joins the skirt flounce, which makes it especially simple for home seamstress.

Another idea for this easily made model, that will make it appear entirely different, is to make it sleeveless with the cape collar as shown in miniature view.

Dainty chiffon print, eyelet batiste and pastel tub silk make up most attractively with the capelet collar.

Then again for active sports, you can make it with the short sleeves without the capelet. Choose cotton mesh, pique or linen.

Style No. 2922 may be had in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39-inch material with ½ yard of 32-inch contrasting.

Wool crepe, tweed mixtures and canvas crepe also appropriate.

All patterns 25 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Note Of Confidence In Canadian Agriculture Is Sounded

A welcome and refreshing tone of confidence in Canadian agricultural conditions is sounded in the announcement by the management of the Royal Winter Fair that "prospects for entries at the Royal in all departments were never better than at the present moment."

"Exhibitors in the western Provinces are most anxious to continue to display their live stock and other agricultural products," the Royal's statement goes on, "and the Dominion Government and the Provincial Governments, recognizing the advantages of the Provinces continuing to occupy a prominent position at the Royal are contributing their usual financial assistance in transportation and in the selection of the live stock and agricultural products."

"There has been more than the usual number of inquiries from United States points this year and the Royal's survey of Ontario and Quebec indicates that there is considerably more live stock than usual ready for exhibition, so that we are very satisfied that the Winter Fair will open with the best and most representative live stock displays which we have ever had."

"Although general conditions last November were anything but favourable, 1930 was the Royal's record year, not only in exhibits and attendance, but the spirit of the people at the show was happier than at any previous event. We feel sure that the spirit of optimism at that time has served a very useful purpose in that it has enabled Canadians better to view recent economic adjustments with equanimity. We believe that a similar result will be secured at the forthcoming Royal Winter Fair, and be more noticeable perhaps on account of the greater contrast in conditions."

The Royal this year is designed to commemorate its founding and inauguration ten years ago, when in the depression that followed the war it helped so signally to restore confidence to Dominion agriculture generally. Since its birthday at that time it has established itself as an institution to which Canadians all over Canada have pointed with a very considerable pride.

"The Royal is entering upon its new cycle under conditions which permit it to perform a service to Canada in influencing the general outlook and state of mind of the Canadian people, apart altogether from its influence upon agriculture. The aim of the management is that everyone who visits the Royal and everyone who exhibits there shall be better equipped to meet whatever problems may cross their path in the immediate future."

PAINTS VIVID PICTURE OF THE HORRORS OF WAR

Ottawa, Ont.—Painting a vivid picture of the horror and desolation which must inevitably result from another war, Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General for Canada, addressed students of the University of Ottawa on the problems of disarmament.

The forthcoming disarmament conference at Geneva, in February, 1932, will represent the first attempt yet made to bring about a general limitation or reduction of armaments based on common agreement, Mr. Dupre told his audience. Mr. Dupre was speaking at the opening of the lecture series in the University of Ottawa for the academic year 1931-32.

The post-war disarmament movement is based on agreement, Mr. Dupre said. "Its roots lie in the horror and futility of the last war; that war in which 10,000,000 men were killed and 13,000,000 maimed; where the daily loss of life amounted to 16,586; where the parade of dead, marching 10 abreast from sunrise to sunset, would take 46 days to pass by a given spot."

Since the war the feeling had grown that not only did armaments fail to prevent war, but that they actually encouraged war. They not only failed to give security, but they prejudiced security. "Give a man a loaded gun, and he will likely want to pull the trigger," said Mr. Dupre. "Give him one that is superior to that possessed by anyone else, and the temptation will be irresistible."

The disarmament movement had been steadily developing to culminate in the coming Geneva conference, the Solicitor-General continued. "The conference was the result of 10 years' steady preparation by the League of Nations. The question of its success or failure was dependent on many factors."

Mr. Dupre outlined the difficulties as well as the factors making for the success of the coming conference. Fear was the father of armaments, he said. "Remove fear, and you remove guns, bayonets, poison gases and other abominations; provide security, and you can turn swords into plowshares—but not before."

There were political difficulties to be surmounted, and also technical difficulties. The challenge of new and more dangerous forms of armament must be met. He dealt with some of the possibilities presented by chemical discoveries, the effect of which would be to destroy life behind the actual fighting lines as well as in them.

Excess Freight Rates

Government Will Not Be Called Upon To Pay For Churchill Shipments

Ottawa, Ont.—The Dominion Government will not be called upon to absorb any excess freight charges for the handling of the two cargoes of wheat through Churchill this fall, it was announced by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals.

The Dominion agreed to handle the test-shipment for the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers on the basis of the Fort William and Montreal freight rates. If the cost of the shipments had been higher than this rate, the Dominion would have absorbed it. The Dominion did not levy elevator fees at Churchill.

Edmonton, Alberta.—Edmonton's Chinese residents are greatly concerned over the present trouble between China and Japan in Manchuria and a strong resolution urging the Chinese national government to declare war on Japan immediately has been cabled to Nanking and Canton by the Edmonton branch of the Chinese National League.

Likely To Follow Pound
Toronto, Ont.—There is a growing feeling among a number of prominent people that a large portion of the world will be disposed to follow the pound instead of the dollar, said A. E. Phillips, General Manager of the Imperial Bank. Mr. Phillips returned to Toronto recently from a holiday in Great Britain.

Lower Insurance Rates

Hopes To Obtain More Favourable Consideration For H.B. Route

Ottawa, Ont.—The safe and expeditious voyage of the two freighters carrying test grain shipments from Port Churchill on Hudson Bay to Europe, will strengthen materially the case of the Department of Marine in its efforts to secure more favourable insurance rates on vessels using Hudson Straits, Alex. Johnston, Deputy Minister of Marine, states. The efforts of the department to secure lower insurance rates will be resumed in the near future.

In summing up his report to the department, following the docking of his vessel in London on October 4, Captain W. Mount of the "Farnworth," said: "To sum up the position, and judging by the conditions prevailing this year, a vessel proceeding there (Port Churchill), in the proper season, fitted with a Gyro compass, a direction-finding outfit, and well ballasted, will experience no more difficulty in making a passage than she would in passing through Belle Isle."

Captain Mount reported very little ice sighted on the passage in and out of the straits.

The only difficulty encountered by Captain Mount was compass trouble when in certain sections of the magnetic pole. At these points the compass would become sluggish and practically useless, he reported. This difficulty, however, could be easily surmounted, he said, with a Gyro compass.

Port facilities at Churchill were adequate and with dredging completed, Captain Mount believed that next year three or four vessels could load at the same time efficiently.

Alberta Has Deficit

Operating Deficit Of $2,306,581 Shown For Last Fiscal Year

Edmonton, Alberta.—An operating deficit of $2,306,581 for the fiscal year ending March 31 last, was announced by the Alberta Government. A summary of the provincial current account was given out by Premier Brownlee, showing the results of the government's financial operations for the year. It was pointed out by the premier that it is the first time in number of years that such a deficit has been reported.

From 1925 to 1930 inclusive the province showed a surplus of revenue over expenditure of $2,481,386, but that the surplus would for this last year be turned into a deficit has long since been a foregone conclusion.

In accounting for the deficit, Premier Brownlee states that two or three items alone, involving approximately $604,000, must be considered as special expenditures not ordinarily looked for in the expenditure of one year. These were: The provincial election of 1930, $160,000; freight charges on seed and relief to drought areas, $57,000; and extra grants to schools, $357,000.

Premier Bennett Honored

McGill University Confers Degree Of Doctor Of Laws

Montreal, Que.—Intermingling pomp and dignity with a colourful display of warmth of welcome, McGill University conferred upon Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett the degree of doctor of laws. And then as a climax the large audience attending the special convocation marking the opening of a three days' reunion, heard the Prime Minister in an address permeated with confidence in Canada.

"Let us be confident," Premier Bennett declared after remarking that the world's troubles might not be over but Canada's would be over, the sooner Canadians marched fearlessly to meet them. "Let us be bold and put to shame those who in their assumed wisdom forecast unending trouble and the greed that springs from fear prefer themselves and their own interests and exploitations to the welfare of Canada as a whole."

Season's Work Finished
Ottawa, Ont.—The season's operations of Department of Marine vessels in the Hudson Straits area have been brought to a close and the ice-breaker N. B. McLean has left the straits to take up winter service in the St. Lawrence River. The "Arcadia," carrying the Dominion Government hydrographic survey party, has also sailed for home.

Believes Canada Will Drop Gold Standard

But Not As Permanent Measure Says Dr. Swanson

Saskatoon, Sask.—Dr. W. W. Swanson, who accompanied Premier Bennett last year when he attended the Imperial Conference, is of the belief that it will not be long before Canada follows the example of Great Britain, and drops the gold standard.

Addressing the members of the Kiwanis Club here, on the subject of "Currency and International Finance," he stated that this step would not be permanent but that eventually the Dominion would return to the gold standard. He regarded financiers of the United States as only amateurs when compared with those who have controlled British finance, and declares that the pound sterling is of far more concern to Canada than is the United States dollar.

May Ask Legislation For Party Funds

Proposal Is Foreseen For Next Session Of Parliament
Ottawa, Ont.—The Ottawa Citizen publishes the following:

"A proposal for legislation at the next session of parliament on the subject of campaign funds is forecast as a prospective development. Whether it will emanate from a western Liberal or western Progressive is not certain, but someone, it is said to be agreed, will come forward with it."

"From the Beauharnois inquiry the repercussions have been considerable and while legitimate election expenses call for contributions, the purpose is to develop a method of overcoming this scarcity."

KING GEORGE RIDES TO CHURCH

King George and Prince George are shown in their carriage as they were driven from the royal residence at Edinburgh, Scotland, to the ancient Cuthbert Abbey in Aberdeenshire to attend the services. The King visits Scotland each year and spends several weeks at his castle in the Scottish hills.

President Of Spain Resigns

Trouble Came Over Measures Restricting Religious Orders

Madrid, Spain.—Nieto Alcalá Zamora, who has served as provisional president of Spain since the ousting of King Alfonso XIII, six months ago, has resigned with his cabinet and was succeeded within a few hours by Manuel Azana, his minister of war.

The shift of government resulted from the measures restricting religious orders that have been inculcated by the assembly in the constitution under which republicanism Spain will be governed, and it was accompanied by spectacular street demonstrations.

Bands of Communists and anti-clericals roamed the streets of Madrid singing the "Red Flag," and shouting "Down with the Catholic Church" and "Death to all Jesuits." Most intense excitement prevailed as a consequence of the bitter parliamentary fight over the status of the church and ecclesiastical organizations in the new-born republic.

Anti-Dumping Tariff Displeasing To Italy

Newspaper States Canada's Action Regarding Imports Is Unfair

Rome, Italy.—Displeasure in Italy at the decision of the Canadian Government to apply anti-dumping tariff provisions against imports from countries whose currency has depreciated on foreign exchange markets was reflected in an editorial appearing in Gli Italiani of Italy.

It is unfair, the newspaper said, to apply anti-dumping provisions against Italian imports, as the lira still remains on the gold standard, and any oscillation in its rate of exchange will be of short duration.

Reinforcing its argument with statistics the newspaper said that during the last three years the value of Canadian goods imported by Italy had been greatly in excess of the value of Italian merchandise imported into Canada.

Contribute To Relief Work

Eastern Ministers Giving Part Of Salaries To West

Toronto, Ont.—Pastors under the jurisdiction of Toronto West Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, recently decided to donate a percentage of their salaries for relief work in Western Canada.

The decision was made at a meeting of the Presbytery held in New Toronto. Pastors with a salary of $3,000 a year will subscribe ten per cent. of their salary for a period of one year, while those on a salary of less than $3,000 a year will give ten per cent. of their salary for a period of six months.

Using Unsinkable Boat

Lisbon.—Fritz Engler, a 30-year-old sailor, set sail October 14, for New York in a rubber boat which he claims is unsinkable. He expects to make the trip in 70 days via the Canary Islands and the Bahamas. The boat is fitted with two sails and pair of oars, and the deck can be hermetically sealed in rough weather.

THINKS POUND STERLING WILL CONTINUE LOW

Quebec, Que.—The pound sterling had been "pegged" at too high a rate previously and he did not think Great Britain would ever return it to a par of $4.86, Lord Rothermere, British newspaper peer, stated in a brief interview here before sailing for home on the "Empress of Britain."

"I don't think that Great Britain will ever return the sterling to par of $4.86. She will come back to a gold standard in time, but the pound was pegged at too high a rate of exchange and was economically unsound," the publisher declared.

Lord Rothermere made a flying visit to Canada to hold conferences here with representatives of the newspaper industry in which he is financially interested.

The world depression would not be over for some time and in Great Britain it need not be expected to let up for another 12 or 18 months, he said.

In reply to a question, Lord Rothermere said he thought the recent decrease in unemployment insurance payments were "all to the good." Lord Rothermere expressed the opinion that the present low rate for the Canadian dollar would give Canada a fine chance to increase her export trade.

His next visit to Canada, probably before the end of the year, would possibly take him to British Columbia to inspect some property in which he was interested, Lord Rothermere said.

Reduced Rail Fares

Teachers and Students To Obtain Special Rates For Yuletide Holidays

Montreal, Que.—Reduced railway fares for teachers and students at schools and colleges far from home will be put in effect for Christmas, New Year and Easter holidays by the railways of Canada, it was announced here by the Canadian Passenger Association.

The round trip fares will be reduced to one and a quarter times the single fare, it was announced. Dates of the sale of such tickets will be governed by holiday dates of the various schools and colleges throughout the country.

A certificate signed by the director or headmaster of the school or college will be necessary to secure the reduced fare.

Ship Gold To Europe

France and U.S. Control Three-fifths Of World's Supply

New York.—The torrent of monetary gold which has been flowing from New York into the coffers of Europe was swelled recently by $47,762,400.

This brings the total net loss of gold to approximately $568,000,000 since September 1, most of which was taken in the last four weeks, or since the suspension of the gold standard in Great Britain.

While latest official figures are several days old, it is now estimated in Wall Street that the monetary gold stock in this country is close to $4,500,000,000, and that France's has increased to nearly $2,500,000,000. The two countries control roughly three-fifths of the world's entire supply.

First Canadian Entrant In International Show

Saskatchewan Man Heads List For Second Consecutive Year

Chicago, Ill.—First Canadian entrant in the 1931 International Grain and Hay Show at Chicago, is James A. Paur, of Langham, Sask. Distinction for having sent in the first entry from Canada to this competitive crops display went to the same Saskatchewan grower last year.

The International Grain and Hay Show is a department of the International Livestock Exposition, which will be held at the Chicago stockyards November 28 to December 5.

Paur will be an exhibitor in the oats and rye classes of the 1931 show. Scotland's potato acreage is 5,000 greater than last year.

Dysentery Is a Very Dangerous Bowel Complaint

Mrs. E. M. Ward, 637 Ave. H. South, Saskatoon, Sask., writes: "When my husband was in France he took dysentery, and was in hospital over a year. Ever since he came back he has had the attack three or four times a year. I cannot emphasize the good Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has done for him. He generally takes a few doses and gets relief in a few hours. "I cannot speak too highly of your excellent remedy, and you may be sure we are never without a bottle of it in the house."

The Western Spirit

Are the people of Western Canada losing, or in danger of losing, that fine pioneer spirit which enabled them in the past to tighten their belts and hang on through times of stress and hardship, and that optimism which, looking to the future, could distinguish the elite lining to the cloud which presently loomed above them? Are the people of this generation losing, or have they lost, this spirit and outlook on life which carried their forefathers into the forests of old Ontario and Quebec to hew out homes, and which inspired the men and women of a generation ago to trek to the vast prairies of the West, build little shacks and break the virgin soil with a crude plow drawn by oxen?

These questions suggest themselves when we hear of the way in which a considerable number of people are reacting to the existing difficulties confronting them during this period of world-wide depression. Unquestionably many men and women are facing their problems just as courageously as ever, but there does appear to be an increasingly large number who are inclined to throw up their hands and rest content to become objects of charity and governmental assistance. There seems to be a tendency on the part of many to depend solely upon relief supplied by others rather than make a real struggle to provide their own relief from existing difficulties.

Government assistance in times of national emergency—as the Prime Minister of Canada has described the present situation—is necessary. So, too, is assistance that can be provided by churches, charitable organizations and individuals. Some families must have such assistance, and because the need has been created through no fault of their own, they are fully deserving of it. But there are many who can get along without it, or at least with a very minimum of such assistance, but who, because of the organization of relief measures on a large scale, are adopting the attitude that they might just as well get as large a share, a full share, of what is going on.

In cities and towns cases are constantly cropping up of people who could get along without help but who, lacking pride or even common honesty, have enrolled themselves on relief lists. The writer has even heard of farmers who, having a small crop, neglected to harvest it because, they argued, they could get more government relief if they had nothing than would be the case if they had even a little of their own.

After all, times like the present call for self-denial, self-sacrifice, courageous effort to make the best of things and get along with as little aid as possible. Before the Great War people were asking questions somewhat similar to those appearing at the beginning of this article. Had the human race deteriorated? The stamina of the race was demonstrated in the fiery furnace of war, not only by men in the trenches, but by the munition worker, the producers of food, transportation workers, and the great mass of people everywhere and in all walks of life. Practically everybody was willing to assume their share of the burden and make their sacrifice, large or small.

A revival of the same spirit is necessary now. True, there were profiteers, and grafters, and slackers, during the war, but they were regarded with loathing and contempt then, and still are. We want none of them now. What Western Canada needs today in order to successfully tide over the existing depression, and to save the country for the future, is the old spirit which was so long the pride and boast of this country—the courage, the endurance, the optimism of the early pioneers. It was that spirit which made the country what it came to be; it was the same spirit that won the war; it is the same spirit that will save the day now, both in the case of the individuals who display such spirit, and in the country as a whole. Lying down, letting "George do it," trying to get something for nothing, grumbling and fault-finding will not better the situation one whit. It will only make matters worse.

Let us as a people, individually and collectively, stand upright on our own feet and fight our way through. Where there's a will, there's a way. It can be done. It must be done, or we are but creating greater problems and piling up still larger difficulties for the future.

Ten Years Of Seed Collecting

British Columbia Has Produced Over Twenty Tons Of Various Species

The establishment for the extraction of forest tree seed which has been maintained at New Westminster, British Columbia, by the Forest Service of the Department of the Interior, has now completed ten years of service, and in that time has produced 40,940 pounds (practically twenty and a half tons) of seeds of forest trees of various species. Virtually all of this has been sent to the Forestry Commission of Great Britain and the state forest services of New Zealand and Australia. The chief species whose seed has been secured are Sitka (or silver), spruce, western yellow pine (ponderosa), pine, and Douglas fir.

Almost one-third of the seeds that are drilled for oil and gas produce nothing.

No One Escapes Tax

Germany Goes About Collection In Very Thorough Way

The thoroughness with which the German tax of 55 is collected is illustrated by the following incident that occurred at Mannheim Aerodrome, says the Geneva correspondent of the Irish Independent, Dublin.

A German citizen—a woman—was a passenger by air from Holland direct to Switzerland. She had been staying at Amsterdam, and was proceeding right through to Basel. Fortunately, however, she alighted for a few moments at Mannheim, in Germany, and because she had stepped on German soil she was relieved, despite her protests, of 100 marks for leaving Germany.

New Advertising Idea

As Carried Out By Grocer In Denver, Colorado

The idea is not exactly new but its application is, as far as we know. A Denver, Colorado, grocer, cutting a baseball in two, pested one half on the outside of his show window and the other half just opposite on the inside. That made the ball look as if it had been driven partly through the glass. A few streaks of black paint, artistically grouped, like cracks. Nearby, a placard labeled "A Big Hit" carried a list of bargains the store was offering.

Gandhi May Visit America

Indian Leader Willing If He Would Not Be Made Ridiculous

Mahatma Gandhi is willing to go to the United States at the conclusion of the round table conference if his friends can convince John Haynes Holmes, New York pastor, that the Mahatma would not be made a laughing stock.

"Holmes tells me my visit would be misunderstood, that I would be exploited, ridiculed and misinterpreted," Gandhi said.

"If others who have invited me can convince Holmes I ought to go to America I shall be glad to reconsider my decision."

"Einstein said his visit was the greatest mistake of his life because most Americans regarded him only as a spectacle. I'm not as sensitive as Einstein but I ought not to go to America unless the American people are willing to listen to my message rather than regard me as a curiosity."

Coal Imports

Increase Shown In Importation Of Welsh and Scotch Hard Coal

Anthracite coal from the British Isles, imported to Canada through the port of Montreal this season, had reached a total of 520,668 tons to the end of September. The figure was 9,373 tons higher than in 1930 to the same date.

Overseas coal and coke receipts for this season are lower than last year by 105,020 tons, due to the embargo on the importation of Russian anthracite. The increase in Welsh and Scotch hard coal has not made up the difference. Last year 148,000 tons of Soviet anthracite was landed here.

MOURNING WARDROBE

"A death occurred in our family and I had to go in mourning. I could hardly afford to buy all black clothes, so decided to dye what I had. I consulted our druggist and he advised using Diamond Dyes. Everything came out beautifully. Beautiful, bright, and long-lasting. All I have since learned to appreciate is the excellence of the black Diamond Dyes. If I had not used them, the results were impossible. I had to get Diamond Dyes and do the work over. Recently I have tinted my hair. I had a beautiful raspberry shade and dyed a rug a lovely garnet with Diamond Dyes. They are really money savers—the finest dyes money can buy—I truly believe."

Alfalfa Good For Humans

Hey! Hey! It's good for you, Alfalfa. The cow's delight, is bully for humans, according to Dr. E. V. McCollum, of James Hopkins University. The cattle food, he told a health institute called by the Milk Council of Greater Chicago, is crammed full of vitamins and is palatable in salad form. As a substitute, however, for those who do not like hay, Dr. McCollum suggested that they drink milk only from cows fed on alfalfa.

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" INHALANT

When You CAN'T QUIT

Fatigue is the signal to rest. Obey it if you can. When you can't, keep cool and carry-on in comfort.

Aspirin meant for just such times, for it insures your comfort. Freedom from those pains that nag at nerves and wear you down. One tablet will block that threatening headache while it is still just a threat. Take two or three tablets when you've caught a cold, and that's usually the end of it.

Carry Aspirin tablets when you travel. Have some at home and keep some at the office. Like an efficient secretary, they will often "save the day" and spare you many uncomfortable, unproductive hours. Aspirin is harmless, so keep it handy, keep it in mind, and use it. No man of affairs can afford to ignore the score and more of uses explained in the proven directions. From a grumbling tooth to those rheumatic pains which seem almost to bend the bones, Aspirin tablets are ready with quick relief—and always work. Neuralgia. Neuritis. Any nagging, needless pain.

Get the genuine tablets, stamped with the Bayer cross. They are of perfect purity, absolute uniformity, and have the same action every time. Why experiment with imitations costing a few cents less? The saving is too little. There is too much at stake. Get the genuine tablets at the purchase of genuine Aspirin tablets in the large bottles.

Made in Canada

Commercial Canning

Fruits and Vegetables Are Canned Under Strict Government Supervision

Commercially canned products, either fruits or vegetables, have an advantage from the technical standpoint of being available at perfect maturity and within a few hours of harvesting. At one time the canning of fruits and vegetables was almost entirely done in the home; today the modern housewife gets her winter supply of fruits and vegetables from the products of the up-to-date canning factory.

The pure food laws of Canada provide that canned fruits and vegetables must be sound products made from sterilized, clean, sound, properly matured and prepared fresh fruits or vegetables by means of heat, and kept in suitable, clean containers closed automatically or otherwise, and marked as to conform in name to the particular fruits or vegetables used in their preparation. No adulterated preservative or artificial coloring may be used in commercially canned fruits or vegetables. They must contain only pure water, sugar and salt as preservatives.

All canned products manufactured in Canada are produced under the strict supervision of the commercial canning inspection service of the Dominion fruit branch. Under this service four grades for quality are provided, and these are respectively: Fancy, choice, standard and second. The terms used to describe each grade indicate clearly and concisely the nature and character of the product which qualifies for the grade.

Trade Opportunities

Good Market In France For Canadian Horses and Cattle

With a little adjusting of conditions here and there, there is every reason why Canada might export between 10,000 and 15,000 horses annually to France, and should also secure a larger share in France's cattle imports, which run to $200,000,000 annually in the opinion of Michael Sauzet, a Paris, who deals with livestock in a large way and who has been spending several weeks in Canada as a purchaser.

Would Trade Coal For Wheat

The newspaper Tagblatt said negotiations were underway for the barter of half a million tons of Ruhr coal for a quantity of Brazilian coffee in a manner similar to that in which Brazil recently traded coffee for wheat from the United States. The Tagblatt suggests that negotiations might be extended to include a trade of coal for Canadian wheat.

Fundamental Facts In Reference To The Gold Standard And Its Effect On International Trade

(By H. G. L. Strange, Director, Research Department, Scarle Grain Company, Limited, Winnipeg)
The expressions "debility," "deficiency," "lack of exchange," "On the Gold Standard," "Off the Gold Standard," have been much written and talked about during the past few weeks, and inasmuch as expert economists and financiers do not all agree as to the respective benefits or defects of these economic policies, the plain person may be pardoned for being somewhat bewildered by it all.

Perhaps, however, a simple review of some of the fundamental facts upon which the majority of experts seem to agree may be of help at this time.

Countries officially on the gold standard are prepared to pay their debts when due and demanded and to redeem their bonds, notes and bills in actual gold, if required. Countries not officially on the gold standard, usually in order to preserve, behind their bonds, notes and bills, a certain minimum amount of tangible gold security, do not guarantee always to pay their debts at once in tangible gold, although in practice actually they may always do so. (This, without doubt, is exactly the position which Great Britain finds herself at this moment).

The quoted exchange value of a country's currency, i.e. the pound, the dollar, the franc, the mark, etc., whether that country is on or off the gold standard, simply expresses the opinion of the world at large as to the value of that country's currency, or credit, in terms of gold.

The real value of any country's exchange does not always depend as to whether that country is officially on or off the gold standard, but certainly does depend in the main upon the credit of that country or in the faith that the world at large has that the particular country will always pay its debts, in full, exactly when due, and in some medium of exchange that is acceptable to both parties, or as a last resort in gold.

Naturally the knowledge that a certain country has a large amount of gold in reserve is good tangible evidence of ability to pay, hence of good credit.

That a country balances its budget each year is also evidence that warrants faith. That a country is trading at a profit and so has surplus funds to invest, and that a country is year by year not spending more than it can afford, or that country has valuable potential resources that can be developed to bring in wealth, are all reasons for faith in that country and are reasons that will inevitably result in a high exchange value of that country's currency, whether it is on or off the gold standard.

In the long run the real price of wheat or any other commodity, that is its purchasing value in relation to all other commodities, will depend but very little upon the rates of exchange, or upon whether countries are on or off the gold standard, but will in the main depend upon the relationship of the supply and the demand of wheat or any other commodity, and will further depend also in no small measure upon the purchasing power of those persons who need the commodity wherever they may reside, and the purchasing power of these persons must depend in the long run upon whether somewhere in this world, they can sell the products of their own hands or brains at a profit. If they can do this they are eager buyers of wheat and all commodities, and are willing to pay a fair price because they need it. If, however, they are unable to sell the products of their own hands or brains, then naturally they will have but little with which to purchase any commodities, and will only be able to afford those that are offered at a cheap price.

Trade Through Churchill

Bright Future Is Predicted For Western Canada's Seaport
That eventual flow of the main current of trade from central Canada to the east, will probably go over the Hudson Bay route through Churchill in future years, is the opinion of Lloyd Roberts, of Ottawa, son of Dr. Charles G. D. Roberts, eminent Canadian author and poet, who, with his father, was a recent visitor to northern Manitoba. Mr. Roberts stated that while on his visit to the new port he had been informed on good authority that $3,000 was saved in sending the recent test shipment of grain to Churchill from the west, as compared with transporting to Port William. Mr. Roberts, a well-known Canadian journalist and, like his father, a writer of prose and poetry, has for six years, been a member of the press gallery at Ottawa.

WHAT NEW YORK IS WEARING

Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson Furnished With Every Pattern
Here's one of those darling little French frocks with quaint charm and simplicity.

It's so cunning to wear, and easy to slip into, and as easy as A, B, C to make it.

It's fashioned of French blue dimity, with white pin dots. The pleated collar is white organdie. It may be bought already sewn to the neckline. However, the pattern provides for pleated collar, if you wish to make it of self-fabric.

Adorable schemes suggest themselves for this cute model as aprigged dimity, orchid and white tissue checked gingham, pale blue linen and pink dotted Swiss.

Style No. 3254 is designed for girls of 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. Size 4 requires 1 1/2 yards of 35-inch material with 3/4 yard of 35-inch contrasting. All patterns 25 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Abundant Crops For Next Year Predicted

Precipitation Figures Show Generosity Of Southern States For 1932

Prediction that there would be abundant crops throughout western Canada next year, was made by Robert Henderson, mortgage corporation inspector, on his return to Toronto from a two months' tour of the west.

Conditions both on the farms and in the cities were not as black as they had been painted, he said. Certain definite areas in southern Saskatchewan and Alberta were experiencing difficulties, but he cited tax collections, butter production figures and bumper crops in the northern parts of the prairies as indications that things were not as bad as they appeared.

He based his prediction of the crop next year on rainfall statistics for the past few months. Precipitation figures for the past three months, he declared, provided a guarantee of sufficient moisture for 1932.

Bakers' Pastry

Association Discusses Criticism That Cakes All Taste Alike

The criticism that all bakers' cakes taste alike was discussed by several delegates at the convention of the Bread and Cake Bakers' Association at Montreal.

One baker attributed the monotony of flavor to the fact that the trade used too much vanilla essence, killing the taste of the eggs and butter. Another felt that the fault lay in the practice of tasting the cake before it was baked and then tasting the icing before it was put on the cake. Cakes and icing should be tasted together in the bakery to get the combined effect. Yet another put forward the explanation that favouring were often poured in carelessly without accurate measurements.

Bakers only supplied equal to 10 per cent of the cake consumed by the community, declared a delegate.

Canadian Fish For New York

Fish Preserved By New "Quick Freezing" Process Going Forward From Prince Rupert

Commercial shipments of fresh Alaskan salmon and halibut, treated under the new "quick freezing" process of refrigeration, have now begun to move regularly between Prince Rupert and New York, according to the traffic officials of the Canadian National Railways, and at least 20 carloads, each containing some 30,000 pounds of "quick frozen" fish will be moved over Canadian National Railways lines between November 1 and the end of February. It was only last month that the first "quick frozen" fish ever handled between Alaska and the east were delivered in Groton, Conn.

Canada Has An Immense And An Unconquerable Belief In Herself, Declares Premier Bennett

Has Success With Peanuts

Ukrainian Farmer In Ontario Planted Acre This Year

The Simcoe, Ontario, Reformers says: Morelek grows cotton and tobacco!

Also peanuts!
Not just a small garden patch of peanuts, but a whole field of them.

On the outskirts of the village of Waterford lives one, Samany Zerluk, Ukrainian by birth, who has successfully raised and harvested an acre or more of peanuts.

One day he was in the city of Hamilton and from a street corner vendor bought a five-cent bag of peanuts. He opened one or two of them and found the nuts in their natural raw and unroasted condition. Not caring for peanuts of this kind, he took them along home. Next day he thought of planting the peanuts in a flower pot which he did.

The peanuts grew up, produced flourishing plants and multiplied.

That was four years ago. The next year Samany put a few out in the garden where they seemed to grow equally well. Another year passed and he had quite a patch. There were not such a great quantity of peanuts but sufficient to appease the appetite of his young boys.

Without the slightest knowledge of the science of growing peanuts or of soil and climatic requirements he planted over an acre to peanuts last spring. The soil is a fairly light sandy loam, and the land has a gradual slope. The plants did well from the outset and were as husky looking as a field of potatoes. The plant is not as tall as a potato plant, however, and more resembles the vines of a bean plant. The peanuts cluster thickly about the roots of the plant.

Runs Into Millions

A contemporary points out that while home-grown tomatoes are to be seen everywhere at present, "a few months from now we shall be importing them, as usual, from Bermuda." It is interesting to find that Canada imports fresh tomatoes to the extent of about $1,900,000 per year, but in the past these have come chiefly from the United States (more than two-thirds of the total) with Mexico second and Bermuda a poor third.

A total of 47,779 tons of German anthracite has been imported this season. British bituminous imports have reached 19,833, a reduction from last year's 13,667 tons.

In highly optimistic and ringing terms, Premier R. B. Bennett emphasized Canada's unconquerable belief in herself. The Canadian Prime Minister spoke at the opening of the new home of the Canadian Club of New York, recently.

"Canada has an immense, an unconquerable belief in herself," Mr. Bennett declared, and with his remarks wholehearted applause broke forth from his audience. "We have the faith that accepts good times as our natural due and bad times as only an interlude between past prosperity and the greater prosperity that is to come. I suppose we were born that way, and all the forces of world distress are powerless to change us. That does not mean that Canadians are vainglorious, reckless or prodigal, for they are not."

"In any kind of life, thrift and economies are virtues, in our pioneering lives, they are veritable necessities. Nor does it mean that Canadians are content and satisfied with life as they are and as they would have them. We face whatever situation may arise with the knowledge that however bad it may be, hard work by all our people, courage in every walk of life, real and intelligent co-operation among the elements which compose the nation, cannot fail to better our position."

The Prime Minister faced distinguished fellow-Canadians present in the professional and business life of the United States.

"I am not here to discuss the state of affairs in Canada," Premier Bennett stated. "But for the purpose, the very happy purpose of meeting old friends whom the turn of events which carry us hither and thither, has too long separated from me."

"Our trade reports, our bank statements, our revenues, our expenditures are published and made available to all. They tell the story of our progress in these troubled times; that, and the fact that our great institutions built upon the foundations we long ago determined to be sound, and unshaken in this economic convulsion which has rocked the world."

"You all know that and the reason as well why, though we have problems, though we have unemployment, though nature this year has been unkind to our western wheat areas, our problems are less acute than those of other countries; our unemployment situation while serious is controllable, and the major calamity in our west is one from which we can forecast as early recovery."

Not a Good Risk

Insurance Companies In U.S. Bar Prohibition Agents

Maybe you didn't know it, but being a prohibition agent is just as dangerous as being an acrobat or a stunt man.

The American Life Convention, holding its 26th national sessions at Pittsburg, received the occupational manual from its committee on "average lives" and right there under the heading "R.N.A." up beside folks who risk their necks in other ways, the committee has listed prohibition agents.

"R.N.A." it is explained, means "risk not accepted."

Could Not Be Shelved

After receiving a petition "11 miles long" against the proposed bill granting Sunday movies, the English Government has decided not to push the measure in Parliament.

AS OLD KING GOLD FELL

Announcement that the British National Cabinet had decided to ask Parliament to pass a bill temporarily suspending the gold standard, brought this huge, mile-long petition to Throckmorton Street, London, England, where the Stock Exchange is located. Here the Wall Street of London, England, as it was filled to overflowing by vitally interested Britons.

Monday's Big Shoot.

Monday next, Oct. 26th, is the day of the rifle club's annual shoot, the event beginning at 10 a.m., when all the contestants are required to be on hand. The contestants will be divided into three classes, with a class for the juniors.

The range officers for the day are to be Sergt. Major McDonald and B. G. Powell. The executive committee consists of Col. Bowen, M. McKinlay, L. Zilliox.

Providing the weather is favorable, those who attend are in for a real day's enjoyment. Special attention is being paid to the lunch this year.

Assemblymen's Pay to Be Reduced.

Members of the Alberta Legislature will be asked by the Brownlee Government at the next session to consider cutting their seasonal indemnity of $2000, thus making a contribution towards helping the province meet financial burdens, which were caused thru increased expenditures for unemployment relief and other measures.

This announcement of the Government's proposal was made on Saturday by the Premier, who stated that this was a matter over which the members of the House themselves had control, and who would have to decide on the size of the cut, if any.

The U. F. A. Convention.

With the other speakers listed to appear at the Stony Plain U. F. A. Constituency convention at Magnolia, Thurs. Nov. 5, which includes Premier Brownlee; Robt. Gardiner, M.P.; Mrs. A. Warr, president of U. F. W. A., there is a possibility that in the person of Mrs. Etheridge, U. F. W. A. director for the Peace River South. Our member, Donald MacLeod, will be present.

The U. F. A. locals in this constituency which have their regular meetings this or the coming week will elect their delegates to this annual convention.

A Union Government for Alberta.

Suggesting to Premier J. E. Brownlee that he enlist the support of all political parties and form a Union Government for the purpose of meeting the serious financial situation of the province of Alberta was made by W. McC. Davidson, an ex member of the Legislature, in an address delivered in Calgary last week. He declared that only by enlisting all the support possible could the Alberta Government adequately deal with the affairs of the province as at present. He pointed to the provincial debt of $10,000,000 carried by less than 1,000,000 people, and the deficit just announced of approximately $2,300,000 on the last year's operations to be added to the total debt.

Hallowe'en Dance
Moose Hall, Stony Plain
Friday, Oct. 30th.

A Pleasant Evening.

Moose Hall was the scene of a merry party on Tuesday evening, when a company of entertainers from Edmonton Moose Lodge who had motored out here, put on a play and dance, to which the officers and members of the local lodge and their friends were invited. Dave Nichols and his orchestra supplied the music.

There will be Gospel services every Sunday at 2.30 p.m. at Muir Lake Community Hall.

On Sunday, Nov. 15, English Lutheran services at St. Matthew Schoolhouse at 7.30 p.m. by Rev. H. Kuring.

United Church Notes

Last Sunday was our Missionary Anniversary. The special speaker was Rev. D. Ponich, a native Ukrainian minister of All People's Mission, Edmonton. Rev. Ponich very graphically described the advance of his people since coming to Canada over 30 years ago. How they rose from ignorance and poverty to intelligence and prosperity. A very interesting item was the singing of a hymn in Ukrainian which he himself had translated from English.

The Stony Plain Harvest Supper was a splendid success. The Spruce Grove Harvest supper, which is always a special event, takes place Thurs. Oct. 29.

Spruce Grove News

At a meeting of the curling club at Stony Plain last week Mr. W. J. Connolly was elected vice-president.

The oldtimers of this district intend patronising the Alberta Pioneers' dance to-morrow night in Memorial hall, Edmonton. Those who can't attend will be able to hear the oldtime music to be broadcast by CJOA.

The Harvest Home supper at the local United Church will be held in the church building Thurs. Oct. 29.

Service at Glory Hills.

Harvest Festival services were held Sunday last at the Glory Hills Reform Church, Rev. C. H. Reppert, pastor. The special speaker was Student E. Hener, son of Rev. Hener, pastor of the Moravian church, Edmonton. There was a good attendance, and the edifice was very appropriately decorated. Student Hener is a very able speaker, and promises to become one of the outstanding men of the Moravian church.
